Termination

11.1

Either party may immediately terminate any Agreement by giving notice in writing to the other party without incurring liability to the other party by reason of such termination if:

11.1.1

the other party is deemed to be unable to pay its debts within the meaning of Section 123 of the Insolvency Act 1986 or any similar regulation or statute relating to insolvency or calls a meeting for the purpose of passing a resolution to wind it up, or such a resolution is passed, (or a resolution is passed by the directors of the other party to seek a winding up or administration order), or the other party presents or has presented a petition for a winding up order, or presents, or has presented, a petition to appoint an administrator, or has an administrative receiver, or receiver appointed over all or any part of its business, under taking, property or assets;

11.1.2

11.1.3

the other party suspends or ceases or threatens to suspend or cease to carry on its business;

11.1.4

any event analogous to the above occurs in respect of the other party in any other jurisdiction;

11.1.5

it is entitled to do so pursuant to clause 12.2;

11.1.6

if the other party is in material breach of the Agreement, where such breach is incapable of remedy; or if the other party is in material or persistent breach of any part of the Agreement, where the breach is capable of remedy, by giving notice in writing to the other party, specifying the breach and requiring it to be remedied, and if the other party fails to remedy such breach within 30 (thirty) days.

11.1.7

12 Force Majeure

12.1 Neither party to any Agreement shall be deemed to be in breach of that Agreement, or otherwise liable to the other party in any manner whatsoever for any failure or delay in performing its obligations under the Agreement due to Force Majeure.

12.2 If the Force Majeure in question continues for more than 1 (one) month either party may give notice in writing to the other to terminate the affected Agreement. The notice to terminate must specify the termination date, which must not be less than 10 (ten) days after the date on which the notice is given, and once such notice has been validly given, the relevant Agreement will terminate on that termination date unless the Force Majeure has been resolved.

13 Assignment and novation

13.1 Neither party may assign the benefit (including any present, future or contingent interest or right to any sums or damages payable by either party under or in connection with any Agreement) or delegate the burden of any Agreement without the prior written consent of the other party, which the other party may withhold at its absolute discretion.

14 Entire agreement

14.1 The Agreement will incorporate these Terms and Conditions. Subject to the foregoing, each Agreement contains all the terms which the parties have agreed in relation to the subject matter of the Agreement and the Agreement supersedes any prior written or oral agreements, representations or understandings between the parties in relation to the Services. No variation of the Agreement shall be valid unless it is a formal variation to the Agreement signed by each party. For the avoidance of doubt, notices on Purchase Orders or agreements made by email shall not be effective variations to the Agreement unless confirmed in a formal variation agreement.

14.2 The parties shall not enter into any Agreement wholly or partly in reliance on, nor has either party been given nor shall any part be deemed to have given any warranty, statement, promise or representation made by or on their behalf, other than as expressly set out in the relevant Agreement. To the extent that any such warranties, statements, promises or representations have been given, the recipient party unconditionally and irrevocably waives any claims, rights or remedies which it might otherwise have had in relation to them.

14.3 Nothing in this clause 14 will exclude any liability which one party would otherwise have to the other party in respect of any statements made fraudulently.

15 Waiver

15.1 No failure or delay by a party to exercise any right or remedy provided under any Agreement or by law shall constitute a waiver of that or any other right or remedy, nor shall it preclude or restrict the further exercise of that or any other right or remedy. The single or partial exercise by either party of any right, power or remedy under any Agreement shall not in any circumstances preclude any other or further exercise of it, or the exercise of any right, power or remedy.

16 Severance

16.1 If any court or competent authority finds that any provision of any Agreement or any of these Terms and Conditions are invalid, illegal or unenforceable, that provision or part-provision shall, to the extent required, be deemed to be deleted, and the validity and enforceability of the other provisions of the Agreement shall not be affected.

16.2 If any invalid, unenforceable or illegal provision referred to in clause 16.1 above would be valid, enforceable and legal if some part of it were deleted, the parties shall negotiate in good faith to amend such provision such that, as amended, it is legal, valid and enforceable, and, to the greatest extent possible, achieves the parties' original commercial intention.

17 Notices

17.1 Any demand, notice or dispute (other than communications in the normal process of progressing the Customer Change) (each, a "Notice") must be in writing and may be given by hand or sent by first class pre-paid post and shall be deemed to have been duly served:

17.1.1

19 English law

19.1 Each Agreement and any non-contractual obligations arising out of or in connection with it shall be governed by English law.
